What we do at Good Hope Hospital Charity

Together with your help we raise money to provide world-class facilities for patients and their families at Good Hope Hospital that go 'over and above' what the NHS can provide. We spend your generous donations on refurbishing patient and family areas, providing 'added extras' that help make patients more comfortable and entertained at the hospital, and providing toys and games for children, making trips to Good Hope easier for them and their parents.

Hello and welcome to the third edition of Love Good Hope, the official newsletter of Good Hope Hospital Charity. This edition is packed with news from the Charity and updates on where your money has been spent, alongside incredible stories from fundraisers who have done amazing things to support staff and patients at the hospital.

This year marks the 75th Anniversary of Good Hope Hospital and there are plenty of ways that you can get involved to mark this momentous year. Read on to find out how Good Hope Hospital has changed over its history, and read about an inspirational person who worked at the hospital for an amazing 55 years and has since volunteered at the hospital.

The coming months bring with them a whole range of events that you can get involved in to raise money to support patients, staff and families at Good Hope. From taking part in the Birmingham Triathlon to jumping from a plane on one of the special Charity skydiving days or pulling on your trainers for the Great Midlands Fun Run, there's no limit to the challenges you can take part in for your local hospital.

The Charity always loves to hear from you. If you're on social media make sure you're following our accounts, just search @GHHospCharity on Facebook and Twitter to find out more. If you want to get in touch with us, please call the Charity main office on 0121 371 4852, email charities@uhb.nhs.uk or go to heft.org.uk.

Good Hope Hospital Charity relies on the support of people like you, without whose hard work it would not be possible for the Charity to go 'over and above' for patients at the hospital. I look forward to continuing to hear more inspirational stories from people who have done incredible things to raise money for the Charity.

75th anniversary

2018 marks 75 years of Sutton Coldfield's local hospital, Good Hope, and whilst the location and buildings have changed, the dedication of the staff has remained constant. Here are just some of the amazing things the staff have to say about the hospital.

Name: Maggie Coleman

Job role: Matron in Maternity Services and currently Interim Associate Head of Midwifery.

Time in role: 34 years, started in 1984 as a Registered Midwife but trained as a Registered Nurse in 1980 at East Birmingham Hospital, which is now Birmingham Heartlands Hospital.

What does working at Good Hope Hospital mean to you? Good Hope Hospital is my local hospital and I love being part of the Good Hope family, it runs through my veins and I am proud to serve the local population. I am passionate about ensuring that Good Hope Hospital is the maternity service of choice for local women and their families by providing them with safe and responsive maternity care.

Name: Mark Chambers

Job role: Manager of the Haematology & Oncology Day Unit based in the Sheldon block.

Time in role: I have worked at Good Hope Hospital since 2004 - in various departments and at various levels. I have worked as an HCA, Staff Nurse and Charge Nurse.

What does working at Good Hope Hospital mean to you? Working at Good Hope means a lot to me, I live nearby and feel that I am helping to provide a service to the local community and wider catchment area. I have made many friends within the hospital and always feel a great sense of camaraderie. To think that my local hospital community has such great services is a very rewarding part of the job. I always want to see Good Hope doing well, and have fundraised along with many of my colleagues to help to improve our services, most recently by expanding our chemotherapy area to create a supportive treatment area.

Name: Bernie Dooner

Job role: Midwifery Support Worker in Antenatal Clinic

Time in role: I have worked at Good Hope Hospital for 35 years

What does working at Good Hope Hospital mean to you? Good Hope has been a major part of my life, all for the better. I have made wonderful friends over the years. I have loved and enjoyed all aspects of my role from being a Nursing support worker to becoming a Midwifery support worker. Good Hope has allowed me to touch people's lives and make a lasting difference. I will forever be grateful to the hospital for giving me that opportunity.

Name: Adell Brazier

Job role: Ward manager of ward 11, Elderly Care

Time in role: I have worked at Good Hope Hospital for four years, and before that I was a student nurse at Good Hope.

What does working at Good Hope Hospital mean to you? Working at Good Hope means a lot to me, I enjoy caring for the most vulnerable members of society and providing the best care possible. Good Hope Hospital has been a huge part of my life for over four years and I love it!

Name: Sue Bailey

Job role: Maternity Medical Records Manager

Time in role: I started working at Good Hope Hospital in 1978 on work experience and then signed a permanent contract in Maternity on 1 September 1979 and have been here ever since!

What does working at Good Hope Hospital mean to you? I work with a fantastic team in Maternity at Good Hope, who are all very caring and compassionate to their patients and the people they work with. We are like one large family and I cannot imagine ever wanting to work anywhere else. I feel very honoured and lucky to work in the NHS and here at Good Hope Hospital.

Vera 'Holly' Holley

Good Hope Hospital's 'guardian angel'

To celebrate Good Hope Hospital's 75th anniversary, we met a very special lady, known as Good Hope Hospital's 'guardian angel', Vera 'Holly' Holley. Holly, 87, has worked at Good Hope Hospital for over 50 years, first as a nurse and after retiring in 1995, a volunteer. She has tirelessly fundraised to provide over and above for the patients and staff at the hospital.

Hello Holly! So how did you become a nurse?

I joined the St John's Ambulance Brigade aged 11 as a nursing cadet, I already knew that I loved to care for people and they taught me the skills I needed to train as a nurse when I was older. I had to leave school at 14 to support my family, so I took a job in a bakery in Aston and continued to go to the cadets in the evenings to continue my training; it was an exhausting but rewarding time.

What was Good Hope Hospital like when you started working there?

The hospital was just a house when I started in the 40s, there were only eight wards and it was mostly used as a convalescence home for people who had had operations and were recovering. Many of the patients were soldiers as the war had not long finished so people had a variety of injuries and illnesses. We eventually outgrew the house and moved to what is the current site of Good Hope Hospital.

Why is Good Hope so special to you, and why did you stay on after your retirement?

For me, Good Hope is home. The hospital allowed me to pursue my career as a nurse, and gave me the support and training I needed to practise the profession for so many years. I was sad to retire, but at 65 it was time for me to hand in my uniform and allow others to develop as I had. However, the hospital had been my life so I wanted to give back in any way I could. After my retirement I set up a branch of the NHS Retirement Fellowship, where retirees from the hospital could spend time together and maintain those important friendships whilst raising funds for specialist facilities and equipment.

Holly, you have been nominated for, and won, many awards for your contribution to the hospital.

What would you say was the proudest moment of your career?

Of course, I was always extremely proud to be a nurse, it has always been a well-respected profession, especially treating injured soldiers in the 1940s but I think my proudest moment would have to be when I had a ward at Good Hope named after me. The Vera Holley Clinical Decisions Unit opened in 2008 to recognise the fundraising that I, along with the dedicated team of volunteers at the hospital, had done the previous year. We raised almost £16,000 in 2007 which was used to purchase a bladder scanner, a resuscitation trolley and a specialised chair for the Eye Department.

Good Hope Hospital Children's Appeal

Good Hope Hospital Charity is launching a new £300,000 appeal to transform the children's areas at the hospital, so visiting children feel as comfortable as possible, minimising stress for their parents and the staff who treat them.

Each year, 30,000 children are treated at Good Hope Hospital but the areas do not reflect this, and are not as child-friendly as might be expected at a hospital that sees so many children. With your help, Good Hope Hospital Charity will renovate the children's areas, making them much more child friendly.

Good Hope Hospital Children's Outpatients department treats thousands of children and teenagers each year for a variety of conditions. With your support, the Charity will carry out a full refurbishment, transforming the area, including new walls and floors, with friendly decorations, comfortable chairs, a new reception area and a fully refurbished play area.

The refurbishment will continue into the treatment rooms, transforming these to be calming for young patients who may be having their first experience at hospital. These treatment rooms are where children receive injections and tests so creating a child-friendly environment will help to decrease anxiety, helping the children and their parents. Currently, the children's area does not stand out from the rest of the hospital, the Charity's appeal will transform the department, including the entrance so that children know they are entering an area that caters for their needs.

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager at

Good Hope Hospital Charity said: "I am excited to launch this ambitious new appeal that will transform the children's areas at the hospital. With the help of our amazing supporters, we will be able to revitalise the department, making it child-friendly and comfortable, to the benefit of children and their families.

"A trip to the hospital can be stressful for children, but a bright area, full of toys and activities, will take their mind off the fact that they're in hospital, allowing them to interact with their siblings and other children as they would at home or at school.

"The renovation will not only help children's physical and mental wellbeing, but decrease pressures on staff as happy and relaxed children can be treated more quickly than anxious children. The Charity wants to create an environment that staff can be proud to work in, complementing the excellent care that children receive at the hospital."

None of this will be possible without your support; there are lots of ways that you can raise money to support the Children's appeal at Good Hope Hospital. Join one of the fantastic events coming up this year or set up your own fundraising event at work or in the community.

To make a donation to the Children's appeal, please visit heft.org.uk/childrenandyoungpeople or for more information contact laura.power@uhb.nhs.uk ward and not engaging in any activities can cause distress and a low mood. These games and DVDs give patients a reason to stay active and hopeful about recovery as well as spend time with their loved ones."

The Charity also provides 'added extras' for children visiting Good Hope Hospital. For many children a trip to the Children's Outpatients Department may be their first experience in a hospital, and can be extremely daunting.. Good Hope Hospital Charity has provided a wide range of toys and sensory items that parents can use with their children to provide some comfort and distraction for them whilst awaiting their appointment. The items are also useful for siblings who may feel uninvolved or bored. As well as in the waiting room, members of staff can use the sensory toys to distract children whilst they are having blood taken or having a minor procedure.

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager at Good Hope Hospital Charity said: "Coming to hospital can be stressful for both children and parents alike so the Charity aims to make this experience as easy as possible."

The Medical Day Unit has also benefitted from Charity funding. The Unit exists predominantly as an elderly care outpatient facility, and thanks to support from the hospital charity, it has undergone a change of location and full refurbishment. Katie Snowden, Senior Nurse on the Unit said: "A recent expansion aided by Good Hope Hospital Charity has supported us in expanding our service to take frail elderly patients out of A&E avoiding hospital admissions and unnecessary lengthy stays in hospital, as well as making the unit more comfortable for patients." Mike Hammond, Chief Executive of Good Hope Hospital Charity said: "Good Hope is immensely proud of its Medical Day Unit and this refurbishment will benefit the hundreds of elderly people who visit each year."

The Charity has funded an activity trolley for the stroke ward with a selection of games, puzzles, colouring books and portable DVD players. These were requested by the ward to keep their elderly patients, and those with dementia, entertained during their time on the ward. Melissa Coley, Staff Nurse, said: "The activities have been extremely well used, particularly the DVD players. As well as being appreciated by patients, the puzzles are great for families as a way for them to positively interact with their loved ones." Justine Davy, Head of Fundraising said: "For people who have recently had a stroke, being on the

Asda donation brings joy to children's radiology

The team at Asda Minworth donated a very generous £500 to the Children's Radiology Department at Good Hope Hospital.

The cheque, presented by Community Life Champion, Denise Alder, to Rebecca Pinner will help to make the department more child-friendly, easing the stress of coming to hospital by refurbishing the play area, filling it with fun and modern toys, and decorating the walls with bright and colourful murals.

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager at Good Hope Hospital said: "Thanks to Asda Minworth for supporting the Charity through its green token system. We really value local businesses raising money for the community; the items purchased from this donation will bring smiles to children and families at Good Hope."

Victorious boxer brings funds to Good Hope

Amateur boxer Jimmy Bates was born 35 years ago at Good Hope and was cared for at the Special Care Baby Unit. Recently, Jimmy returned to the Unit with a cheque following his success in an amateur boxing event.

Jimmy competed in the Strictly Boxing VIII event at Moseley Rugby Club and, thanks to the support of his family, friends and colleagues at Access Hardware Ltd, has raised over £3,000 to support newborns in need at Good Hope.

Jimmy said: "It was great to raise money to support a cause that is really close to my heart. I trained hard for the boxing match and it paid off as I won in around 60 seconds!"

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager at Good Hope Hospital Charity said: "It's really special that Jimmy has returned to give something back to the unit that cared for him when he was so small. The money will help the Charity go over and above for newborns at Good Hope."

Specsavers team go the extra mile to support children at Good Hope

A team from Specsavers branches in Mere Green and Sutton Coldfield has raised £3,400 to support children at Good Hope Hospital.

Staff members at the opticians raised money by taking part in the Great Midlands Fun Run and a Wolf Run, a muddy, obstacle-filled test of endurance. The money will go to support the Children's Assessment Unit at Good Hope Hospital.

Specsavers Store Director, Tim Goodhew, visited the hospital to present the cheque to Fundraising Manager, Laura Power and Play Specialist, Amanda Brookes.

Tim said: "Lots of team members have been busy fundraising. I took on the challenge of completing the Wolf Run alongside five of my colleagues, we had a great day and it was excellent to raise so much money for an important cause."

Laura Power said: "The Charity's thanks go to Tim and the team from Specsavers Mere Green and Sutton Coldfield for their fundraising efforts! The money will help the Charity provide toys and activities for the Children's Assessment Unit, entertaining the 30,000 children that are treated at Good Hope every year."

A close shave for fundraiser

Charity Champs

Laura Cox has raised a brilliant £4,000 to be split between Good Hope Hospital's Oncology Department and Little Princess Trust, by shaving her 15-inch long hair off.

Laura, 'Brown Owl' at First Streetly Brownies in Sutton Coldfield, had the ingenious idea to raffle off the opportunity to cut off her hair, saying: "I wanted to donate as much hair as possible so decided to have my whole head shaved."

Laura chose to raise funds for Good Hope Hospital Charity in memory of her auntie Chris, who sadly passed away from cancer in 2015.

There were lots of helpers on the night from the Streetly Rainbows, Brownies and Guides, whilst the team from The Hair Room in Sutton Coldfield kindly offered to shave Laura's head on the night.

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager said: "Thank you Laura for your incredible fundraising, I am humbled by your bravery in shaving your head! The money will support cancer patients at Good Hope, helping the Charity to provide extra comforts to help in their treatment."

Thank you!

New Hall Hotel to fundraise for Good Hope Hospital

Good Hope Hospital Charity is delighted to receive the support of New Hall Hotel and Spa in Sutton Coldfield, whose team has chosen the Charity as their charity partner for 2018. The team will be fundraising throughout the year, joining the Charity in a range of activities to mark the 75th anniversary of Good Hope.

Jonathan Squire, General Manager at New Hall Hotel said: "We are looking forward to raising money for such an excellent local cause over the coming year. Many of us have personal connections to the hospital and are keen to do what we can to help!"

Laura Power, Fundraising Manager said: "It's wonderful that local businesses are fundraising for Good Hope Hospital. I'm looking forward to working with the team throughout the coming year."

Physiotherapy patient puts on a show

Jean Rhema is a physiotherapy patient at Good Hope and after the care that she received, felt inspired to give something back. She held a fashion show at Sutton Coldfield Town Hall to raise money and the event was a great success! Members of the physiotherapy department event took to the catwalk themselves to support Jean's event!

Good Hope Hospital Charity's Laura Power said: "Well done to Jean for putting on such a fun and unique event, it's great that she wanted to give something back to support the department that treated her!"

Staff Superstars

Every day we are delighted to hear from our brilliant fundraisers, who give up their time to support patients at Good Hope Hospital. Included in our wonderful charity champs are our 'staff superstars' who work at the hospital and go over and above to help us fund extra equipment, facilities and research on top of what the NHS is able to provide. In this issue we are saying a was my chance to give something back."

Jamie raised almost £900 for the departments.

The next shout out goes to Ward 9 at Good Hope Hospital where the staff have gone over and above to raise funds for the Elderly Care wards at the hospital by holding a pub quiz at The Boot Inn.

Thank you!

Teams of staff members and their friends and family came along on the night where, as well as general knowledge rounds, there was a special round where teams had to make something related to the hospital out of tinfoil! The evening raised £900 for the Elderly Care Appeal.

Well done to the team of 12 members of staff at Good Hope Hospital who completed the demanding triathlon challenge to support patients with cancer.

The dedicated dozen swam, ran and cycled the Birmingham Triathlon held in Sutton Park in Sutton Coldfield, taking on a full Olympic distance triathlon! The team is no stranger to exercise however; as this is the second time they have competed in this event. The competitors consisted of staff from the hospital's Oncology Department including nurses and pharmacy staff. Rachel Powell, Clinical Nurse Specialist said: "The triathlon was difficult but it made me think about how hard life can be for our patients with cancer, and that was really humbling." The team raised over £2,000 for the Good Hope oncology day unit.

If you'd like to get involved in fundraising for your ward or department, or would like to find out more about our events, please head to our website at goodhopehospital.org.uk or call 0121 371 4852 to speak to one of our friendly team members!
