“The Pets in Hospital visits have proven to be a huge boost in mood for patients and staff who are always delighted to see the dogs. We have lots of neurologically impaired patients with low moods and lengthy stays so this service has been invaluable.”

Pets in Hospital is University Hospitals Birmingham Charity's four-legged scheme which allows patients who are receiving care at the hospitals to receive a visit from one of our fluffy friends!

Our growing team of specially-assessed dogs have proven to be a source of comfort for patients that they visit at our hospitals.

Being in hospital can be an extremely lonely and scary time, and a lot of our patients will be away from their furry companions.

Not only can our dogs put a smile on a patient's face, they can also help with interaction with staff and family, and improve their wellbeing!

We love the dogs visiting our hospitals, but we can't do this without your help. One visit costs £30, which includes their training and uniform, so why don't you sponsor a dog today?
